

Interested in making a difference and shaping the future of Fort St. John? Get involved in the ...

What is Leaders Lab?

The Leaders Lab works with people who are interested in transforming the community. We provide a learning environment, information, and a variety of tools that will prepare people for community, business, and non-profit leadership.

Leaders Lab opportunities are for any member of the community who is interested in taking a leadership role and working collaboratively with other community members to generate ideas that will lead Fort St. John and area into a strong, prosperous, and sustainable future.

Who can get involved?

What tools are provided?

Leaders Lab offers information and educational opportunities to help leaders effectively facilitate community decision-making. We offer tools and guidance through sharing of community research, speakers, and workshops. These opportunities help people build confidence, networks, and leadership capacity.

Is the Leaders Lab for me?

The development of effective leaders is important for people and communities that want to:

- Develop truly sustainable, diversified, and prosperous futures
- Work collaboratively to create opportunities and solve problems
- Facilitate partnerships and connect with other leaders and community members
- Take action and be results-oriented
- Ensure involvement of all interests
- Create common visions and develop and implement plans to make them a reality

If you're interested in growing your leadership skills to benefit the community, please visit our website at LeadersLabNEBC.ca for more details.